MORTON SAYS $200,000 DAMAGE

Campbell went all out Monday for relief in flood stricken areas nearby as the local committee of the Salvation Army sent out a call for warm clothing and bedding for Santa Cruz, expecting that a truck load might be made available from here, but in twelve hours time five trucks were loaded and two passenger cars were filled to capacity as hundreds of people brought supplies to the Committee chairman LBen Howard place on north Milton avenue. Here sorting and packing supplies Monday night, are left Ted Solari ,banker with blankets and towels, Lester Titus, Permanente official, packing shoes, with Thelma Solari and Lynnie Titus in the background.

Red Cross, Salvation Army Rally In Flood Crises Here

SEVEN CAMPBELL FAMILIES ARE EVACUATED FROM HOMES TO HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM

When heavy rains last Thursday flooded their homes, seven Campbell area families were evacuated by the Campbell city Fire and Maintenance departments and took refuge in the Girls' Gym at the High School where blankets and cots were provided by the Red Cross. A snack bar was set up and hot coffeee and doughnuts provided to warm up the evacuees.

Laurance Hill, general chairman for the Campbell area Red Cross, received a call from Mayor Richard Morton at 7:30 Thursday evening alerting the organization to be prepared to take care of families left homeless by rising waters. In just about 15 minutes, cots were set up and bedding ready to take care of any evacuees, although it was several hours before families began to arrive.

Ken Robison, Sam Reed, Dean Chamberlin and Robert Culp were on hand from the first alert until families found places to stay with relatives, friends and neighbors the following day. Only one family took refuge in the school on Friday night.

Ken Robison remarked that shortly after receiving warning of impending flood danger, calls started coming in from residents and organizations, offering help and refuge for temporarily homeless people in such numbers that all 33 people found places to stay before the next night. In fact, offers for help exceed the need.

Mrs. Eleanor Gleed, cafeteria supervisor at the high school, got her crew together and had a hot breakfast for everyone Friday morning.

The Senior Girl Scouts offered their services in entertaining youngsters, baby sitting and any other services needed.

Senior Boy Scouts also came and stood by in readiness for any services needed.

Family pets were also rescued and one little girl was able to sleep in peace, knowing her pet Siamese cat was safe and sound in housing provided for it in a shelter behind the school.

Ken Robison stated that everything ran very smoothly and it was good to see how quickly the city of Campbell was ready to meet an emergency on short notice. He also remarked on the kindness and thoughtfulness of residents in offering help to stricken families.

CAMPBELL SENDS FIVE TRUCK LOADS CLOTHING TO SANTA CRUZ VICTIMS

A wire to the Campbell Press from Holland French, Western Territorial Commander of the Salvation Army advised Saturday that all their welfare funds were available for emergency use in flood stricken areas and that all Salvation Army facilities were available for those in need.

The Campbell Salvation Army committee set up headquarters at the home of the chairman, LBen Howard, 18 North Milton avenue and a telephone committee started work to get clothing and dry blankets to flood victimes in Santa Cruz. By midnight enough had been brought in to fill five trucks and it kept on coming in yesterday. Thelma Solari is committee treasurer, Evelyn Cobb is secretary. Other committee members are Mrs. Richard Morton, Mrs. Merlin Bohnett, Joaquin Payne, L. E. Means, C. P. Klassen, Emerson Arends, Guy Farley, Ira Grim, Neal Royer. N. G. Schoenberger and Homer Hyde.

Fire Chief Jack Scott said enough for at least one truck load of warm clothing and blankets has been collected at the Campbell fire station and that it will probably be sent to Yuba City.

Red Cross Is Ready To Help More Victims

Laurance J. Hill, Chairman of Campbell district for Red Cross, said today that the Red Cross is ready to give assistance of any kind to flood victims to get the families back to normal. Anyone needing help of any nature, may contact Hill at his office at 101 Winchester Road, or telephone FR 8-0079.

Campbell evacuation center set up by the Red Cross, was one of the first to be activated to receive evacuees. Among the first to arrive at the Campbell center were three families from Sunnyvale.

Hill stated it was most gratifying to see how smoothly and quickly Campbell organizations and citizens responded to the call for assistance in every way. He praised highly all who took part in assisting flood victims and the anonymous citizens who voluntarily came out and pitched in to do anything needed.

SCHOOL CLASS HELPS VICTIMS

Carol Young and Arlene Bese were co-chairmen of the drive for food, clothing and money which the Future Homemakers Club at Campbell Union High School conducted to contribute to a needy family for Christmas. Club members and their families and members of the high school faculty contributed over $50 in food, clothing, toys and cash. The campaign was conducted under the direction of Mrs. Adele Charlson, club adviser, and head of the Home Economics Department at the high school.

Senior Play Is Selected

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" a comedy, is the play to be presented by the senior class of 1956 to the student body and residents of Campbell.

Try-outs for the play are scheduled for some time in January. Drama teacher, Mr. Wallace, is pleased with the choice and declares that it's a great play with a wonderful class from which to select the performers and stage crew.

The play will be held March 22 and 23.

YULE PERIOD POSTAL SALES ARE UP HERE

A substantial increase in the Christmas mailings at the Campbell postoffice was reported today by Ira Grim, postmaster, in comparing the previous high record set in 1954.

Receipts for December to date have been $15,539 as compared with $13,885 for December 1954, while letter and card cancellations from December 15 to the 28th reached over 300,000 as compared with 225,000 in a similar period of 1954, a figure then which was 32 percent higher than in any previous 13-day period.

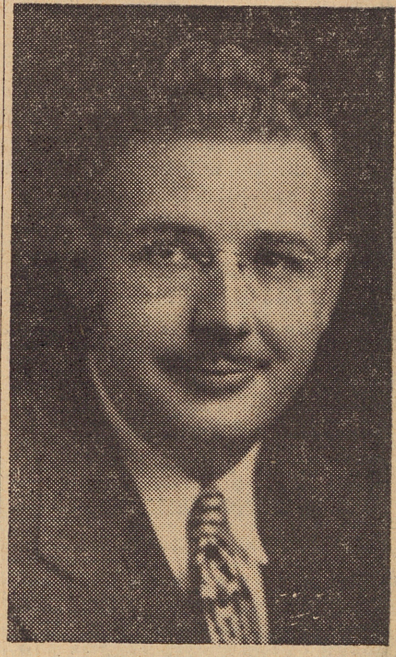
Little Damage To Schools In Campbell Area

Rosemary School cafeteria and five classrooms were flooded last Thursday as a result of the heavy rains last week. William C. Henley, Campbell Grammar School District superintendent, reported that although the high waters flowed through a section of the school plant, there was no material damage done and the water and silt was cleaned up that same evening.

Henley reported that a small section of fence at San Tomas School was washed out due to debris clogging at a bridge on San Tomas Creek. No other damage was reported in Campbell Grammar School District.

MAYOR LAUDS CITIZEN AID IN CRISES

The city government took over when danger became apparent Saturday as Red Cross was set up in the high school district with Laurance Hill as chairman, manned the evacuation center in the girl's gymnasium, providing bedding, dry clothes and facilities for taking care of people, according to Mayor Richard Morton. City boundary lines were ignored in extending emergency services.



RICHARD W. MORTON

West Valley Amateur Radio Association performed invaluable services giving complete communications throughout emergency, being activated at once, through arrangements made with the city previously. City has been providing them with meeting place with city facilities and they have been meeting with city government, integrating functions with city government. Within half hour after being called upon they had transmitting station set up in the fire station. Four mobile units in the field accompanied evacuation crews, one of these being stationed in the evacuation center because the telephone facilities were not working as it was the only communication medium. Morton said they can hardly be praised enough as they manned stations for 20 hours without relief. All their equipment is privately owned said Morton.

"The school district, through Red Cross ,provided the evacuation center, bed clothing, heat, nursing and kitchen facilities. The city furnished food for people, and arranged for evacuation to private homes. Many private individuals are to be thinked for opening their homes to receive people after they were first taken care of at evacuation center including City employees and volunteers working under Fire, Police and Public Works department. Western Gravel Co., within 15 minutes after being called, provided trucks, men and heavy equipment, which we couldn't have done without. Also made sand and sacks for sand bags available for Fire and auxiliary police and provided drivers and equipment on duty more than 24 hours.

"Many private individuals volunteered help and city had complete list of boats of private citizens which they could have called upon if needed.

"General citizenry reacted magnificently, and countless private citizens worked with city crews in cleaning debris from creeks, helping to prevent further damage. The Five Spot kept open all night to prepare food fo revacuees and volunteers workers. I was very pleased at how everyone responded to call for help and the speed and efficiency with which all groups worked together. No one particular organization carried on work—all worked together."

Campbell Grammar School district, under William C. Henley, had buses ready which could have been used for mass evacuation, if necessary. It had standby gas supplies, standby food supplies. Everyone responded to call and got busy and helped, without question.

Morton said he was very proud of the entire city of Campbell and that he hopes the people will be patient with slow process of cleaning up and repairing streets. City employees, augmented by extra crews, working full time will take at least two weeks to clean up and dig out from under. Damage to public and private property casually estimated at $200,000 to $250,000.

It will take time and money to repair streets and clean storm sewers. Winchester Road he believes will have to be practically completely resurfaced, at considerable expense to city.

Pot holes developed in many of the paved roads in Campbell and on county roads. A section of Summit road slid away and bites were taken off Aldercroft Heights road in such manner as to make travel precarious, according to Leonard Bushnell, county engineer who also said there were slides there and on Almaden Road near the Almaden dam.

Log jams in Saratoga Creek caused an orchard near Morse Road to be flooded and dynamite had to be used to break it up. Men worked in relays of three to four keeping logs and debris from jamming San Tomas Creek and flooding over West Campbell avenue.

GUY FARLEY GIVES UP KIWANIS OFFICE HE HELD FOR 22 YEARS

Through occupation and a feeling of being worth while, a community often succeeds in conquering its problems, according to Herman Gallegos, deputy probation officer for Santa Clara County, in a talk Tuesday before the Campbell Kiwanis Club. He said youth problems sometimes stem from economcic, from broken homes and racial differences and that in the formative years, youth interests can be guided along constructive channels.

Ralph Noddin was program chairman. This was the last meeting for the present officers, headed by Ethan Lanphear as president. Next Tuesday, Norman Corvello will be installed as president, but a familiar face as club secretary will retire from office. Guy E. Farley, charter member and the first secretary of the Campbell Kiwanis Club who served a total of 22 years as secretary is retiring from office and to the ranks as member only. Except for one meeting he has maintained a perfect attendance for 25½ years. He was president of the club in 1934.

BUS PASSENGER ILL; AMBULANCE CALLED

A passenger, suffering external hemorrhages, was removed from the Peerless stage at Winchester Road and Campbell avenue last night and taken by ambulance to the County Hospital. He was Richard Hogge of Pt. Pleasant, West Virginia, here for a holiday visit at the home of Oscar Node in Los Gatos.

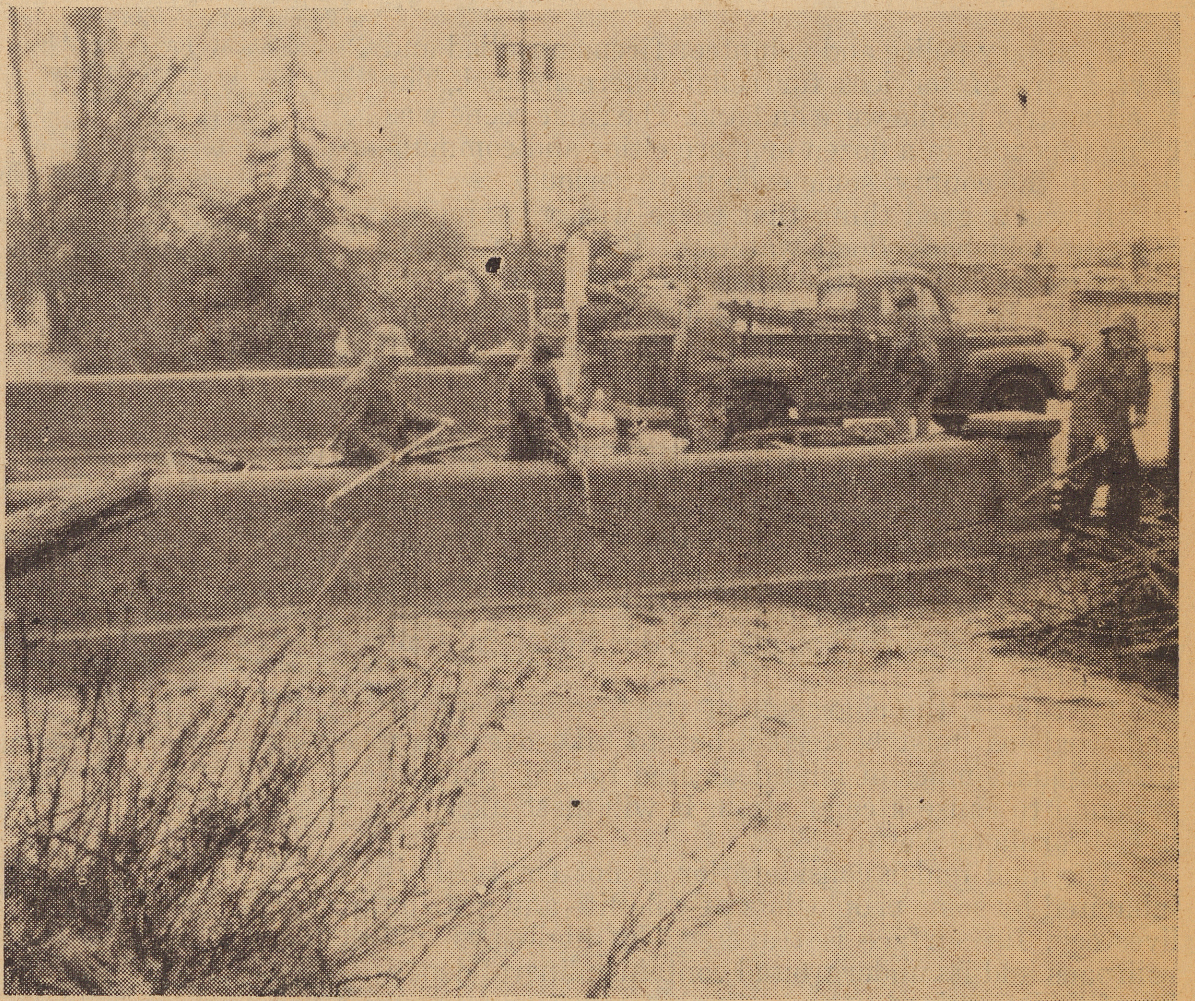
Freeway Work Bids Are Called

State Division of Highways has called for bids on removal of some 81,000 cubic yards of fill dirt from Valley Fair Shopping Center to create an embankment .6 of a mile long south of Moorpark avenue for the future Route Five freeway.

Plans call for the dirt, excavated at the shopping center to make way for store building construction, to be applied to the future freeway right of way as base for eventual highway surfacing.

George T. McCoy, division engineer, said $65,000 has been allocated for the embankment job. Dirt will be hauled from Valley Fair by truck upon selection of a contractor.

Included in the project is installation of 1,750 lineal feet of six-foot chain link fencing to mark right-of-way boundaries adjacent to Moorpark School.



...Racing waters of San Tomas Aquina creek churn and sputter under the Campbell avenue bridge just west of the high school and near the Campbell Water Company pump site, after volunteer workers shown above succeed in removing a log and limbs floating the course as debris. ..Men worked long hours to keep the culvert free from debris so nearby homes would not be flooded. The 4.55 downpour in 24 hours made rivers of some streets and caused most streets leading west from Winchester Road to be barricaded from traffic. At least seven families had to be evacuated from their homes and were given refuge at the high school.

March Of Dimes Campaign Is To Start Next Week

Opening gun in the 1956 March of Dimes campaign to raise $150,000 in Santa Clara County will be fired early next week when close to 200,000 mailing pieces, carrying return envelopes, will be sent to every known residence in the county, it was announced this morning by Robert J. Simmons, general chairman.

"Actually," Simmons declared, "a contribution of five dollars per family might be considered the best possible polio insurance, but, regardless of the amount of money returned, we sincerely urge everyone to send back something. The money is vitally needed.

"Polio isn't licked yet, " Simmons reminded, "and until it is, we have a massive job confronting all of us, one that requires every available dime and dollar. The Salk vaccine is the opening wedge, but it is only the beginning.

"Not only must we continue our scientific research to find an even more effective dosage, we must not and cannot forget our responsibility to the many thousands for whom the vaccine is too late. The job of patient care and rehabilitation is still with us," said Simmons.

Illustrating how March of Dimes monies were used in 1955, Simmons pointed out that the largest single portion, 53 percent, went to patient aid. Polio prevention received 21½ percent of the dollar, research and education, 14½ percent; service to chapters, four and one-half percent; medical department, two and one half percent; public information, one-half percent; and administration, three and one-half percent.

Community chairmen appointed thus far by Simmons include: Palo Alto, William Mowris; Los Altos, Mrs. Mathew DeLeeuw; Sunnyvale, Thomas Ryan Jr.; Saratoga, Chas. Hunter; Los Gatos, Hubert Allen; Gilroy, George Kane; Morgan Hill, Nick Bayto; Cupertino, Paul Granberry; Santa Clara, James Tomlinson; Milpitas, George Hanna, and Cambrian Park, Gus Messineo.

BRAKE FLUID WARNING IS ISSUED BY STATE

Beginning January 1 it will be unlawful to sell anything but heavy duty brake fluid to motorists, it was announced by the Bureau of Weights and Measures. James Brenton said the fluid must meet standards set up by the Society of automotive engineers.

OLD SETTLERS RECALL DAMAGE OF 1911 FLOOD

By Alys Riley

Recent heavy rains and flooding of sections of Campbell recalled to many old settlers, the flood of March 7, 1911 when all of Campbell was under water.

John Blaine, long time Campbell resident, recalled that on arising the morning the flood started he remarked to his wife, "I think I hear water running." When he looked out the window he saw the water had reached the top of the front steps of his home, which was built high up off the ground, typical of the style of homes of that era. He stated he donned his hip boots and went out to look around and found that the entire street was flooded, as was the entire town.

Blaine, who was a clerk at the Campbell-Roachdale store at the time, remarked that business went on as usual, in spite of being under water for seven deys, and that a spirit of cheerfulness and good humor prevailed. A large group of volunteers worked together putting up sand bag barriers and it took a week of back-breaking work to lower the water.

In recounting circumstances leading up to the flood, Blaine told of the two dams, the Kerk dam, which ran east of Dry Creek Road, and the Page dam, which is one mile above Campbell both of which supplied water for irrigation ditches for orchards in the area, and prevented creeks from overflowing during periods of heavy rainfall. During the flood of 1911 the Page dam broke down and flooded sursounding orchards to the railroad embankment, and followed the embankment to Winchester Road, then to Sunnyside Avenue which was flooded. When waters reached a depression in the ground at First Street, the highest part of Campbell, flood spread to all parts of Campbell.

Mrs. Fred Rost, another long time resident of Campbell who now lives on North Second Street, recalls that at the time of the flood she was working for the telephone company, which was at the site of the recent Cozy Cafe, and that she was isolated in her home for four days before someone in a horse and a buggy came and took her to work. She remembers that Campbell avenue was like a river and that the inter-urban street car bridge was washed down. The street car ran between San Jose and Campbell and Los Gatos. She recalls there was a mound of earth in the chicken yard which was the only spot the chickens could roost, out of the water.

The building suffering the severest damage, according to Mrs. Rost, was Campbell's only saloon, which was broken to bits and washed away.

Mrs. M. A. Silva, who lives on South Second Street, recalls that her father owned three houses on Campbell Avenue, between Gilman Avenue and the bridge, which had to be moved from the path of the on-coming flood waters. Two of the homes were moved to Foote Avenue, and the other to South Second Street, where the houses still stand today. Mrs. Silva's father was Joseph Bautista, but he was known to everyone as "Braz".

Grange Installs At January 6 Meet

Herbert Shadle, outgoing Master, presided at the last meeting of the year of the Orchard City Grange, No. 333 last Tuesday evening, in the I. O. O. F. Hall. Shadle also presented the lecturers in the absence of the lecturer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Hyde showed colored slides of their trip through Cincinnati, Ohio, Mississippi, Lounsiana, Texas, Grand Canyon, and New Mexico.

Mrs. Sadie Proctor, Home Economics chairman, received a vote of thanks for presenting the Grange with 24 new Grange song books, donated by the ladies of the Home Economics club.

District deputy John Gordon announced that new officers of Orchard City Grange will be installed in the Mt. Hamilton Grange hall, together with several other granges, on January 6. Members are invited to bring their friends to the ceremony. Gordon also announced that the Pomona Grange will meet January 7 at the Coyote Grange hall. He commended Herbert Shadle, outgoing master, on his third term in that office, and for his good work during that time.

D. K. Werner, the new master for 1956, called a special meeting of all Orchard City Grange officers to plan work for the next year, to be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Rutherford at 26 Hamilton Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lear served refreshments following the meeting, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Werner Raab.

SURGING FLOOD WATERS

Campbell had a taste of what disaster could be as the sky emptied four and 55/100 inches of rain in a 24-hour period last Friday night and Saturday, the heaviest downpour of a similar period in the 80-year history of tabulated rainfall here. San Tomas Creek swished and raced along its channel hauling debris.

It surged over its banks, broke down an embankment and turned water into several homes whose owners took refuge at the high school. The army had men and trucks at stand-by service and the Salvation Army sent word it had authorized expenditure of all available welfare funds for emergency use in flood-stricken areas.

Auxiliary police and volunteer firemen rallied and gave hours of services for relief where needed. The flood control people were on hand. The same scene was being repeated in a dozen or more cities and communities in the county, some even more serious.

It was a good thing that there was a Lexington Dam to hold back flood waters of Los Gatos Creek otherwise as in 1911, the business part of Campbell would also have been flooded. It also was a good thing we have a well-trained police auxiliary and volunteer firemen prepared for any emergency. It might have been worse.

TAMPERING WITH NATURE

The armed services want from four to six million acres of Western public lands on which to test fantastic weapons of destruction, but they will have strong opposition next week from Congressman Clair Engle of Red Bluff, who is chairman of the House Interior Committee.

Of course, the character of warfare is changing and weapons must be tested, but to take over some 10,000 square miles of land dedicated for this purpose is bound to cause a commotion. It will most likely lie in California or Nevada.

The land under consideration is not empty. It is inhabited by some people, lots of wild life and grazing livestock. Its surface is traversed by highways and railroads and its underground contains mineral deposits of undetermined value.

One site under consideration would amputate several hundred thousand acres from Death Valley National Monument, and conservationists will holler over this. We know Congressman Engle well enough that from his experience in his district of 19 California counties from Alpine to Tuolumne that he will fight against giving up an acre of land for this purpose, and that he will probe deeply into the needs cited by the services for the land. He will want to know why we must tamper with nature and the surface area of the earth. He will speculate on the constructive application of atomic force to these bare lands in lieu of the proposed destructive test. He will look far into the future for an answer, and it will probably not be forthcoming. It is a subject deserving of the most searching inquiry for the best interests of the West.

THE NEW YEAR

A new year is upon us and what it has in store is anyone's guess. It is a political year in which issues will be discussed and candidates elected. It is a building year in which hundreds of new homes will be set up, new roads put down, new schools and churches set up and occupied.

It is not hard to project what is likely to happen so long as we have a continuing trend, but then there is always the unexpected that may either divert these plans or stimulate them into greater momentum.

The city council has agreed that something be done soon about a city hall for its employees, and they are using good judgment in doing so. The city grows and grows and because it does, we must anticipate its needs and do something about them. The year 1956 may be the turning point in the march of progress, and it will be for the better if there is solidarity that it has a rightful place on the map.

WHEN DISASTER STRIKES

Jack Scott, who is fire chief of Campbell and who directed auxiliary and regular firemen in evacuating families when San Tomas Creek overflowed its banks Saturday morning, said it was not a pretty sight with unopened Christmas packages floating around in a living room, and gaily tinseled Christmas trees submerged flat on the floors in many of these homes, carrying pre-school age children in arms to a truck as they clung to a rag doll, a trembling dog jumping uninvited into the truck to lay its body alongside the leg of his little mistress, its eyes fixed searchingly on you for some understanding of their plight.

Chief Scott said one of his men worked eighteen hours with little or no rest, and he said men and equipment came in for voluntary services. Police Chief Robert Locke said too, that his Auxiliary police gave many hours of service. The Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the churches and others all did their part, and at the head was Mayor Richard Morton, civilian defense administrator.

Chief Scott, in tribute to services rendered, not only by his own men but by all others, points to the need for civilian defense training in the event of other emergencies, which must be recognized. We are on the San Andreas fault and in the path of jet planes taking off or returning to their base. First aid and other trained services would be needed in the event of an earthquake, a plane crash against a public building, an explosion or other possible disaster.

The Campbell Gambol

RALPH HYDE Who has records of the rainfall in Campbell covering the last 80 years, reports that the downpour from 5 P.M. on Friday to same time Saturday was the heaviest of any 24-hour period of record here, his rain-gauge measuring 4.55 inches for the 24-hours, the season total to date now being 13.16 which is more than the 12.50 over the entire 1954-55 season. . . lots of automobiles chugged over familiar streets in water to hub caps with a few having to call for tow service, some adults waded barefoot in waters covering Rosemary Lane while seven-year old Glennie Mason of North Milton Avenue put on swim trunks and splashed about for several hours attempting to swim and having quite a time of it . . . boys rode bikes through the water and pushed them if it became too deep . . . in 1911, old settlers report they got about in horses and surreys, men wore hip boots which all had, and there were quite a few row boats available, the attitude then being that the flood would probably do more good than harm as this was then an important farm community.

Hyde has kept the rainfall records since 1938, while Guy Farley has the record since 1874 which show that in 1876-77 the fall was only 4.86 for the year, while 1923-24 it was but 6.55 inches, the deluge came in 1888-89 when 30.30 inches was recorded while in 1910-11 it was 22.71 with 12.38 falling in January of 1911 and 6.26 inches in March . . . for the 63 years, Farley has figured the total rainfall was 74 feet and 11 inches . . . heaviest rainfall was in January with 181.44 inches for the 63 years followed by March with 149.94 inches.

SUDDENLY Out comes the sun, tree branches rise as the coating of water fades into steam and then out pop the yellow acacia blooms, camelia pods looking like pink petticoats under green skirts, roses defying wind and rain opening their faces toward the deep, blue sky that is marked with angry looking clouds, African daisies that sway as if to say they don't care, narcissus that pop open and scent the air with loveliness, daphne that comes out like velvet confetti, oranges dangling on trees or laying about on the ground, snails wandering aimlessly and a frog blinking at you while half buried in ground under the eaves, probably using his long tongue to snatch insects that dare to venture along his path . . . all this in Campbell after the storm.

QUITO Kiwanians "Noise" reports I.B.M. is pointing to the day when the tedious office paperwork now handled by large number of women will be done electronically, and will eliminate all except a few attractive girls who will be retained for atmosphere and office parties . . . but be that as it may the ladies rallied for the Salvation Army Committee here to get warm clothing for flood victims at Santa Cruz, expecting to get about a truck load in 24 hours, and they got five truckloads instead and more coming to headquarters at 10 North Milton Ave., so how can you get along without them for doing things like that?

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir,

Where was that gun-totin' offspring of yours on December 20, 1955, between seven and eight p.m.?

That may be similar to a question which a jury may ask concerning a car which sped by our home on San Tomas Road and simultaneously, something struck my picture window. A close examination of the damage indicated that a .22 caliber bullet had been fired. If this slug had gone entirely through the glass, it may have killed or seriously maimed any one of four people, my wife, my son, my five-year-old grandson, or myself.

Just because Congress has failed to exercise control of the manufacture and disposition of firearms, gives no parent the license to allow their kids to run hog-wild with that so-called gift, which becomes a lethal weapon in the hands of a juvenile without the proper training or facility for the handling of firearms.

Before consenting to junior's plaintive request for any kind of a firearm, the parent should first consider a potential facility where junior may get some practice in safety, instead of just turning him loose on a public street or highway. Failure to consider the safety of others in this respect may involve the parents in a legal tangle with the elements of the law, perhaps a lawsuit, whereby the parents may learn the hard way, something which they have failed to learn the easy way.

Consult your local police authorities and they will be glad to inform you as to what facilities are available in the way of rifle ranges, shooting clubs etc., so that junior will not inadvertently put you in a bad spot. Do not be misguided if some "know-it-all" tells you that you, as a parent, are not responsible for the derelictions of your offspring, where death or disablement to another person is involved.

In this instance, I am offering a cozy reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any and all persons responsible for the act mentioned above and all information will be treated confidentially.

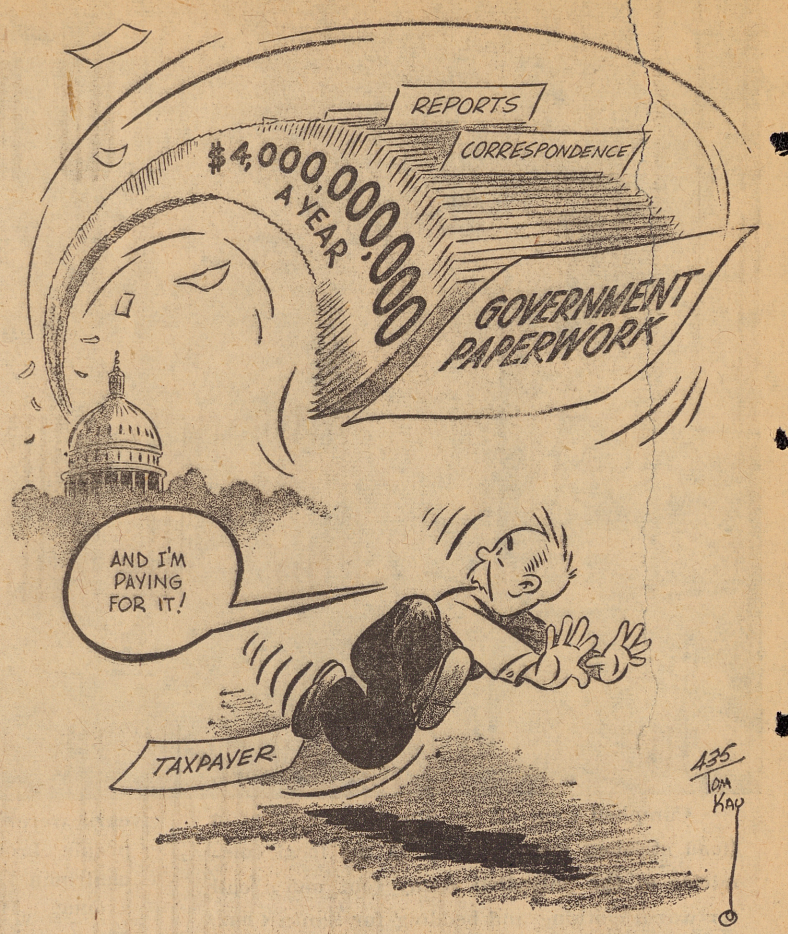
THE AMERICAN WAY



No Rest for the Weary—Taxpayer

Although the first official Navy uniform was adopted by the Continental Congress in 1776, it was not commonly worn, as few officers could afford a complete outfit.

The first submarine accepted by the Navy, the USS HOLLAND, was built in 1899 at a cost of $236,600. The Navy bought it for $150,000. Present day submarines cost about $10,000,000.

Footlighters Are Feted At Yule Party

Members of the Footlighters recently held their yearly Christmas gathering in the faculty room at Camden High school. Members and their guests were entertained by Miss Bonnie Bennett's fourth graders in their creative dramatization of the Christmas Story, an interesting and effective presentation in which the children presented the story with some narration and all dialogue their own original words. "How Come Christmas," a dramatic reading with a humorous touch, was effectively done by Marian Nelson.

After community singing of the best-loved Christmas Carols, led by Marye Parker, Santa Claus dispensed gifts to everyone. Refreshments were served by the E. C. Leicks, Budd Levenbergs and Dean Chamberlins.

The group seized upon this opportunity to make an informal tour of the new Camden stage and dressing rooms before returning home.

The Navy Department was established on April 30, 1798.

SERVICE NOTES

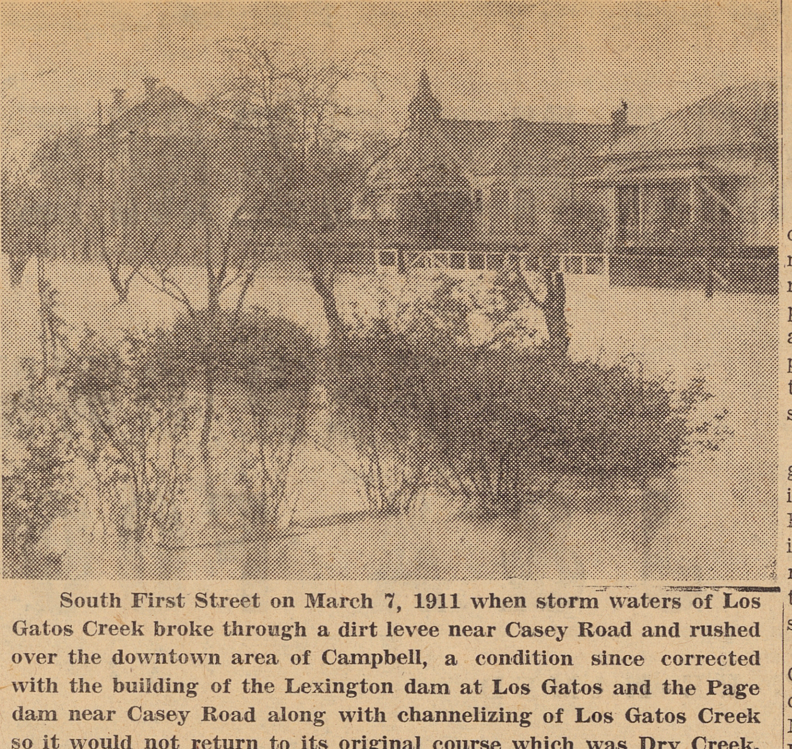
Marine Pvt. James R. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Martin of 641 S. McGlincey Lane, Campbell, and husband of the former Miss Donna S. Starling, also of Campbell, reported to the Naval Torpedo Station, Keyport, Wash., December 1, and was assigned duty with the Marine Guard Detachment.

Before entering the service in June 1954, he attended Campbell Union High School.

Vice Admiral Alfred M. Pride, USN, was relieved as commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet December 19 by Vice Admiral Stuart Ingersoll, USN, during ceremonies in Buckner Bay, Okinawa, aboard the heavy cruiser USS St. Paul, flagship of the 7th Fleet.

Serving aboard the St. Paul is Robert C. Blue, gunner's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Blue of 789 White Oaks rd., Canmpbell.

California-grown dates were exhibited at a fair in San Francisco in 1877.



South First Street on March 7, 1911 when storm waters of Los Gatos Creek broke through a dirt levee near Casey Road and rushed over the downtown area of Campbell, a condition since corrected with the building of the Lexington dam at Los Gatos and the Page dam near Casey Road along with channelizing of Los Gatos Creek so it would not return to its original course which was Dry Creek. The Odd Fellows building is seen in this picture which was loaned to the Press by Judge John D. Blaine.

Tryouts For Next Footlighter Play Scheduled

All interested, experienced or inexperienced actors are invited to the open tryouts for "Gramercy Ghost," the Footlighters' production slated for late February. Tryouts will be held at 8:00 o'clock January 3 and 4 in Camden High school cafetorimu.

The play will be under the competent direction of Paul Beaudry, who is noted for his excellent work in Circle Theatre in Los Gatos.

John Cecil Holm, author of "Three Men on a Horse", has tried his hand at ghost raising in this story of a lovely young woman of the present day who "inherits" the ghost of a Revolutionary War soldier doomed to haunt an old Gramercy Park house in New York until he carries out his original orders.

The soldier had been sent out on a secret mission by General Washington, and, because of a pretty girl, neglected to complete his errand, was slain by the Redcoats, and barred from admission to Heaven ever since.

Nancy Willard is the name of the girl with the unwanted spirit in her Gramercy home, and it soon develops that she has three devoted males on the string. One is a wealthy young stuffed-shirt to whom she is engaged. The next is a dashing young newspaperman who turns up to get the story of the old house for his paper. The third is the ghost . . . a fairly unusual suitor, who provides plenty of competition, confusion and much hearty laughter.

The cast includes six men and six women.

During the past seven years more than $13,000,000 Heart Fund dollars have been channeled into research by the American Heart Association and its local affidiates. ENGINEER SAYS TREE CUTTINGS CHOKED CREEKS

Leonard Bushnell, County Engineer, blamed the practice of dumping tree cuttings and trash into creek beds for much of the flood damage last weekend. He told the Board of Supervisors that the damage was particularly costly in Saratoga Creek and Guadalupe Crek.

The diversion canal at Ross Creek, he said probably saved Cambrian Park, and the Lexington Dam saved Campbell and Willow Glen from more serious flooding. The Board then approved contracts with private engineers to design work on 20 flood control projects.

The engineering work will cost between $125,000 and $150,000, said Donald K. Currlin, manager-counsel of the County Flood Control District.

The surveys will form the basis of future drainage programs.

Creeks involved in the approved surveys include Matadero, Barron, Adobe, Hale, Regnart, Calabazas, Saratoga, San Tomas Aquino, Ross, Penitencia, Little Llagas, West Llagas and Jones.

The first Commandant of the Navy Academy was Commander Franklin Buchanan.

License Renewal Bills In Mail

License renewal statements were mailed Tuesday to 5,300,000 California automobile owners.

The statements, in the form of pre-punched cards, contain the owner's name, make and type of car, and the amount of the 1956 registration and license plate fees.

The 1956 renewal period will be from January 3 through February 4, both for applicants who send in their fees by mail and those who renew in person at the more than 200 permanent and temporary offices of the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

The pre-punched fee statements for private autos were used in California for the first time in the 1955 renewal, replacing the "white slips" of former years. As in the 1955 renewal period, vehicle owners again are being cautioned by Motor Vehicles Director Paul Mason to:

1. Fill in the stub, or right-hand portion of the card to correspond with the name and address printed on the left-hand portion, typed or printed. When an error has been made in the printing, correct the error and fill in the stub properly.

2. Do not detach the stub, either when mailing fees to the Department or when presenting the card and fees in person to a Motor Vehicles office.

WATER IS SAFE TO DRINK HERE SAYS DIRECTOR

W. Elwyn Turner, M. D., Director of Public Health, Santa Clara County Health Department, issued the following statement Tuesday concerning safety of the public water supply in Santa Clara County:

"The safety of all major public water supplies in Santa Clara County was unaffected by the flood. Water from these public sources can be used without fear. Several public water systems in the Santa Cruz Mountain area were flooded out of operation and residents were using bottled water, boiled water and in one instance, safe water trucked into the valley.

"Boiling notices have been issued to the consumers in the city of Morgan Hill and those users of the Almaden water system. Sanitarians have assisted in the installation of temporary chlorination at Morgan Hill and regulation of treatment at Almaden. Boiling water instructions however, are still in effect.

"All users of private wells used for domestic purposes which have been flodded, are instructed to clean and disinfect these wells before placing them back into use. The wells should be pumped until the water is clear.

"Chlorination of the wells is an additional recommended safety measure. One quart of household bleach should be added to the well the well pumps started and stopped several times to mix the well water and the bleach, then allow the well to stand idle over night. After a period of standing, the well may be pumped until the taste of chlorine disappears.

"For further information and advice regarding water supplies, the local office of the Santa Clara County Health Department should be contacted."

Mark Thomas Says More Dam Plans For Flood Control

Mark Thomas, Campbell City Engineer, reported that with the exception of Anderson and Lexington dams, all reservoirs were filled during the heavy rains last week. Lexington dam was filled to four fifths of capacity. Anderson dam was filled to only 11 feet, with a capacity of 75,000 feet, although rainfall in that area was lighter.

Thomas stated that filling of reservoirs undoubtedly contributed much to preventing more serious flood damage to this area, and that a new program, now in the planning stage, will provide more reservoirs for this area, which should also contribute to flood control.

The Flood Control District is working on preliminary plans for flood control. Plans are also being studied for widening San Tomas Creek to prevent overflowing and flooding in that area.

Tax Relief To Flood Victims

Tax relief plans for Northern California flood victims were announced by Harold Hawkins, District Director of Internal Revenue for San Francisco. All available information pamphlets explaining flood loss deductions have been sent to flood areas, and more are being rushed from Washington. In addition, tax refunds on account of flood losses will be given priority during the filing period.

"The first and most important step to be taken", Hawkins said, "is to prove the amount of the loss". The best way to prove the loss is by making a detailed list of the property damaged, showing cost and the value before and after the flood. Unless the property is entirely destroyed, the values are only estimates, but the estimates must be reasonable. The sooner the list is made, the more accurate it will probably be."

"Making a list of damaged property is necessary for all taxpayers, regardless of size", he continued. "The special pamphlets, which should be available in all flood area offices shortly after January 1st."

Fire Chief Is Grateful For Disaster Help

The Campbell Fire Department, today expressed appreciation to individuals called for special duty by the officers of the department to meet the emergency, according to J. B. Scott, fire chief.

Paid firemen were called back to double up for fire duty, truck driving and other duties as directed by Mayor Richard Morton and by officers of the department.

Volunteer firemen were assigned different jobs such as turning off gas mains in flooded homes, pulling trees from power wires and many other assignments, Chief Scott said.

Special thanks he expressed to ladies of the Rebecca Lodge and the wives of firemen who clothed and housed individual families before evacuation stations could be set up. He also thanked those who furnished trucks and cars for evacuation. He lauded the splendid cooperation of both the paid and unpaid personnel with the fire department and the large list of citizen volunteers.

New Automobile Plates Ready To Be Issued Jan. 3

State Senator John F. "Jack" Thompson announced today that California motorists will receive new license plates for the first time in five years when they renew their vehicle registrations for 1956.

"The State's "five-year plate plan authorized by the Legislature after the Second World War has realized important savings for the people in terms of production and recording costs," he stated.

Senator Thompson said the 1956 plates will feature a new identification system showing three letters followed by three figures. The symbols will be black embossed on a chrome yellow background.

"In 1954 we enacted a statute reducing the size of California license plates to conform to a new national uniform standard, recommended by manufacturers and others," he added.

Issue of the 1956 plates by the Department of Motor Vehicles began for owners of commercial vehicles on December 1, and will start for most car owners on January 3, 1956. Two plates will be assigned to each vehicle except for trailers and cycles, which require only one. They will be retained until 1961, with annual renewal tabs from 1957 through 1960.

"Four Santa Clara County banks will be able to register private passenger cars because of the need for extra space required for handling the full size license plates," Senator Thompson pointed out. "They are American Trust, 361 South Murphy, Sunnyvale; American Trust, 1009 Franklin, Santa Clara; American Trust, Los Gatos; and First National Bank of San Jose, Mountain View."

Permanent Department of Motor Vehicles offices are located at 85 Notre Dame street, San Jose; 57 North Eigleberry Street, Gilroy, and 3705 El Camino Real, Palo Alto.

Storm waters got out of control on Rosemary lane, swished over the entire floor of the kitchen and auditorium of the Rosemary school, trickled over the floor of a score of classrooms and deposited silt along the duckwalk. ..Here Harold Seybold and Joseph Lipari are shown pushing out some of the water from the auditorium floor while in the background ironically is seen the Christmastime window mural. Lipari said he had been working for about twelve hours to prevent the water from settling in the auditorium.

BIG POPULATION GAIN IN COUNTY SINCE 1950

Population of Santa Clara county hit a new high of 456,000 people at January 1, 1956, California Taxpayers' association estimated today.

The county's population is 166,253 or 57.2 per cent greater than the 290,547 shown at the time the 1950 census was taken.

During the year 1955 the county has gained some 49,400 people, or 12.1 per cent from the January, 1955, figure of 407,400 the association estimated.

For the state of California, population is at a new high of 13,465,000—an increase of 27.2 per cent since the 1950 census and a growth of 5.2 per cent during the one year 1955, the association estimates.

Census population for California was 10,586,223. For January 1, 1955, the association estimated the population of the state at 12,805,000.

For the twelve central coast counties, population is at a new high of 3,407,090 people for January, 1956.

The central coast counties as a group show a growth in population since the 1950 census of 514,366 people, or 17.8 per cent. Census total for the area was 2,892,724.

During calendar 1955, the area shows a net increase of 113,750 persons—or 3.5 per cent gain over the 3,293,340 people estimated for January, 1955.

Among the twelve central coast counties, biggest percentage growth since the 1950 census was in Santa Clara county, up 57.2 per cent to 456,800 at January 1, 1956, from the census figure of 290,547.

Biggest relative growth during 1955 was also in Santa Clara county, which went up 12.1 per cent, from an estimated 407,400 people at January 1, 1955.

Counties in the central coast area showed growth since the census as follows: Alameda up 14.8 per cent to 849,700; Contra Costa up 18.9 per cent to 355,400; Marin up 34.1 per cent to 114,800; Monterey up 23.9 per cent to 161,700; Napa up 37.3 per cent to 64,000; San Mateo up 44.1 per cent to 339,500; Santa Clara up 57.2 per cent to 456,800; Santa Cruz up 9.4 per cent to 72,800; Solano up 10.5 per cent to 115,800; and Sonoma up 23.7 per cent to 127,000.

Only two counties in the area show a decrease in population since the census, San Benito with a falling off of 4 per cent to 13,790, and San Francisco, with a drop of 5.2 per cent to 734,900.
